December 21 - 5:30pm Solstice Service and Potluck Presented by Kari Tauring

This year we are celebrating the Solstice on SATURDAY, December 21. We will gather at Ceile Hartleib and Terry Kayser's home at 5:30pm. The Solstice will begin at 6:00pm with the Potluck after the service. Call 651-592-1877 more information.

From Kari: "The year 2020 has many of us looking back at the patterns in our lives that bring us to this moment. The dire predictions of 2020 made in the 1970's about the potential future we will face without environmental controls, weaning off fossil fuels, and treating one another with deep respect seem to be both manifesting and denied. Let's look back at the lessons we have learned in our lives, the patterns that keep us trapped and the patterns that lift us up. Our ancient ancestors had tools in song and ceremony for strength as they faced the dangerous darkness. Let's ritualize the end of patterns that do not serve us and give energy and light towards the new ones with song and ceremony as we face the darkest night together!"

Self-Care in a Politically

Presented by Alan Lando

Message from the Groveland UU Fellowship Board and Executive Committee

Winter Solstice is a good time to look to our future. Since September, we've gathered to share our joys and concerns, reflect on UU ideals, participate in thoughtful presentations, and renew our acquaintance with the founders of the UU church through group readings. We've also come together at our Annual Sources Potluck, community events, academic presentations, webinars on small congregations, and our book group. During all these gatherings, we have given our time, in-kind contributions and cash contributions.

The Groveland UU Fellowship board and Executive Committee would like to thank all who have participated in making our Sunday services possible and all who have joined in other gatherings that help strengthen our fellowship. We would also like to encourage you to include Groveland Fellowship in your end-of-the-year giving list so that we can cover our expenses, budgeted at $7,750 this year, without dipping into our modest reserves. May you have a most enjoyable holiday season!

Alan Lando Featured in Book,
The Great Pretender by Susannah Cahalan

On November 13, several Groveland Fellowship members were in the audience for a moderated discussion with Professor Harry (AKA Alan) Lando and N.Y Times #1 best-selling author, Susannah Cahalan at the University of Minnesota. Susannah spoke about her book The Great Pretender.

In 1970 Alan was part of a study by one of his professors, David Rosenhan, in which 9 people feigned mental illness to get into mental institutions so they could report back on the institutions' quality of care.

Alan gave this account:

"David Rosenhan, author of "Being Sane in Insane Places," was my major professor. At age 24 I was admitted to a psychiatric hospital after professing to hear voices that said "empty, thud, and hollow." This study had major impact on the field of psychiatry and led to questioning of basic assumptions including the ability to distinguish sanity from insanity.

Susannah Cahalan, bestselling author of Brain on Fire, became interested in the Rosenhan study following her own illness and spent several years researching the study. In her new book The Great Pretender she concluded that failure to include my positive experience was an important missed opportunity for a more balanced look at psychiatric institutions."
